

Take the Guess out of buying Roofs

BIRD'S ROOFS

The highways and byways of New England are dotted with Bird's Roofs that have kept out all kinds of weather for 20 years

There is a right way to buy roofing, just as there is a right way to buy a suit of clothes or an automobile:

FIRST—Go to the nearest Bird dealer and explain the kind of building you are to re-roof or build. This is necessary, because he must know whether the roof is high pitch or low pitch.

SECOND—Get first-hand evidence of actual performance. If Paroid is the roofing you need, the Bird dealer will show you anywhere from three to a dozen Paroid Roofs right in your neighborhood. He will tell you the exact number of years these roofs have kept out all kinds of weather. He will tell you the cost for repairs, if any.

Talk with the owners of these buildings themselves. Get their experiences first hand. On all the highways and byways of New England there are Paroid Roofs that have been on the job fifteen or twenty years. These facts you ought to know. Durability and Economy are what interest you most. These are a matter of performance rather than a promise on paper.

THIRD—Don't buy a roofing by looking at a 2 x 4 inch sample.

BIRD & SON, Inc.,

(Established 1795)

East Walpole, Mass.

Bird's dealers are glad to unroll a good sized stretch of Paroid on the floor so you may see and feel its bright, gray surfacing, its extra thickness, its firmness, and its pliability.

Buy roofing the common-sense way and you will seldom, if ever, get a poor roofing.

PAROID is an all-round quality roofing, especially adapted for low pitch roofs but good also for steep roofs or siding. It is cheapest in the long run, because it is extraordinarily durable, doesn't leak, crack, buckle, peel, or blister. Costs little or next to nothing for repairs, and is fire-safe. Roofs are still waterproof and weather-tight which were covered with Paroid twenty years ago.

Whether it is Bird's Paroid, Bird's Plain Slate-Surfaced Roll Roofings, Bird's Slate-Surfaced Designed Roofing (Art-Craft Tile Design or Shingle Design), or Bird's Shingles you need, the Bird dealer will want you to buy as indicated above. This is the sure way to take the guesswork out of buying roofing. This is the sure way to make your roofing dollars go farthest.

WESTERLY

New York, Oct. 26.—The British schooner Barbara W., passed City Island and today bound from Apple River N. E. for New York, and reported she had on board James Pickover and Stephen Rickover of Westerly, R. I.

GOOD FOR HIM AND HIS WIFE.

Burley L. Watkins, 228 1/2 Lytle street, Louisville, Ky., writes: "I found Foley's Honey and Tar just what I wanted for my wife's and my colds. This famous old cough medicine is just as good for children as for adults. It checks coughs, croup, croup, bronchitis, and stops that 'tickling' throat that keeps one coughing at night. It contains no opiates nor habit-forming drugs. Prompt and sure in action. Lee & Osgood Co."

WHEN YOU WANT to put your business before the public, there is no medium better than through the advertising columns of The Bulletin.

The men had been out in a motor boat which had become disabled in Block Island and were drifting out to sea when the schooner picked them up.

The above dispatch will allay anxiety that has been felt as to the safety of Stephen Pickover and James Burbeck, of Pawcatuck. They started shortly after noon Saturday in Mr. Pickover's power boat for Greenport to get potatoes, and nothing had been heard from them since. The power boat was found adrift, dragging anchor, off Quonset point, late Monday afternoon. The coats of both men were found in the boat and their lunches were untouched. The small skiff, that was towed astern was missing, and it was therefore presumed under the circumstances that the motor boat had been run aground and the two men got into the skiff to make a landing.

Mr. Pickover and Mr. Burbeck have families in Pawcatuck, and in the Burbeck household are several young children.

Alberto Oliveria and Aurelio Gomes, accused of setting up and operating eight illicit stills in the Slocums district of the town of Exeter, pleaded guilty when given a hearing before the United States commissioner. They were ordered held for the action of the federal grand jury. They were released on bail each in the sum of $4,000 each, furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Rodriguez, of Cumberland.

Oliveria and Gomes are residents of Pawcatuck, and were arrested by Sheriff John R. Wilcox, of Washington county, and Miles F. Sweeney, prohibition enforcement officer, when the officers found a big moonshine whiskey plant in the Slocums district.

A plan of work for the coming year will be considered by the chapters of Red Cross of Westerly, Pawcatuck, Woonsocket and Newport, at the Narragansett hotel in Providence, Thursday. Arthur G. Rotch, manager of the New England Division of the American Red Cross, will give an address on the proposed plan. Other speakers include Chas. C. Jones, assistant manager of the New England division and Lavina H. Newell, director of the auxiliary service of the New England division. There will be morning and afternoon sessions, open to all who are interested in Red Cross work.

A local representative of the democratic nominee for congress from the Second congressional district of Rhode Island, has notified the local democratic town committee that there is to be a democratic rally in Westerly, next Saturday evening. The local representative happens to be a republican, and he was informed that the rally announced by him, would be held under the auspices of the democratic town committee. The republicans will hold a rally this (Wednesday) evening. One of the speakers was to have been Congressman Walker R. Stinson, the republican nominee for reelection, but he will speak elsewhere.

In the United States district court at Providence Tuesday, the cases against Biaggio Gradiolone, James Azunario and Salvatore Paladino, were on the second day of hearing. The men are charged with breaking and entering a freight car at Bradford and stealing therefrom, and conspiring to steal receive and purchase stolen goods from interstate commerce. Five men have already been convicted of this crime, and the defendants deny any connection with these men. Stolen goods were found in the homes of all the accused men in Westerly.

Sergeant Greene resumed his testimony at the afternoon session Monday. United States District Attorney Cannon at this session sought to identify certain goods which had been stolen from freight cars at Bradford. He traced the origin of suits of boys' clothes and bolts of cloth from where they were shipped until they arrived at Bradford, besides. Sergeant Greene, of the railroad police, the other witnesses of the afternoon were:

Michael Curtin, of the Westerly police force; Bernard C. Coyle, overseer of the make-up department of the United States Printing company; plant at Norwich; Earl B. Whitehead, case maker at the same plant; and Albert C. Green, the shipping clerk; James E. Keating, freight checker at the finishing company; freight siding for the company; and for the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company; Henry R. Drescher, freight house checker at Norwich; Robert Woodmansee, car-checker at Norwich; James Kearney, scaler of cars at Norwich; John Malloy, railroad agent at Bradford; and Henry enthal Brothers New York.

Reiger, packer and stock clerk for Ros. Large quantities of alleged stolen goods taken from the homes of a number of Italians living at Westerly, are on display in the United States district court as government exhibits. Tuesday Mr. Cannon offered as government exhibits his bundles of goods said to have been taken from the homes of Gradiolone and Azunario. So far, the government has not contended that stolen goods were found in the home of Paladino.

The prosecution does contend, however, that Paladino was one of a gang of 12 or 15 men from Westerly, who broke the seals of several freight cars at Bradford, and that on the night of March 9 Paladino was seen by Sgt. Caleb Green of the New Haven railroad, peering inside of a car at Bradford that was being rifled by a number of men.

Among the witnesses appearing for the government at the morning session of the court Tuesday were: Louis Meder, stock clerk for the Max Kaufman company of New York, who identified certain poplin cloth in the courtroom as being similar to the class of goods his concern had sent to certain finishing plants in Connecticut and Rhode Island for finishing; Edwin M. Capron, foreman of the bleachery of the Providence Dye & Bleachery Company, who identified certain goods as having been finished by his plant and shipped; John E. Warriner, packer for the Providence Dye & Bleachery Company, who testified as to packing certain cases of white lawn consigned for interstate commerce shipment; Frederick George, traffic manager for the same concern, who identified a shipping order for three cases of white lawn consigned for interstate commerce shipment; and Frederick George, traffic manager for the same concern, who identified a shipping order for three cases of white lawn consigned for a Pittsburgh concern, parts of which shipment the government claims were found in the homes of Gradiolone and Azunario; Clarence Allen receiving and loading clerk for the New Haven railroad at freight depot No. 3, who testified to putting the three cases in a freight car, and Frank J. McCarthy, freight conductor, who testified that on Feb. 4 his train carried certain cars as far as Westerly en route to New Haven. Goods from McCarthy's train were taken by thieves at Bradford, the prosecution contends.

So far as can be learned Dr. Henry I. Johnson secured no statement concerning the details of the shooting from Edward Bailey and no representative of the Westerly police authorities visited Bailey at the hospital on Sunday or Monday to get his version of the shooting. It was reported here Monday that Edward Bailey was dying and had made no ante-mortem statement.

The police were handicapped in their investigation of the case. All the regulars of the force were summoned to appear in the United States court at Providence, Monday and Tuesday, two as witnesses in freight car robbery cases. Police Chief Brown was busy Monday in disposing of two runaway girls from the State Farm for Women in East Lyme, and in the afternoon, he was required to accompany a demented woman to the hospital for the insane. In consequence active police work in the Bailey affair was suspended, insofar as the regular police department is concerned, and personally through no fault of the officers of the department.

Still it is claimed an ante-mortem statement could have been received from Edward Bailey at the hospital Monday without personal presence of Chief Brown or any officer of the department. Tuesday morning Chief Brown went to the hospital at New London and gained such information as was possible.
